ONGOING PROJECTS

LGBTQ+ EMERGING ARTISTS

A queer photo/film tech-residency to engage community in an intersectional conversation to train LGBTQ+ emerging artists within the 905 area. Emerging artists will learn skills guided by a team of experienced mentors and innovative workspace and technology partners through educational art-making activities.

A 10-part learning course launched in community-based arts encouraging individual and communal inquiry into questions of identity and existence.

Our focus in the course has been on the shared question: "How can we use stories and art to convey our experiences of border crossings, both literal and metaphorical?"

The excitement is being felt by participants as they explore and open their minds to the creative process in capturing stories.

Participants are learning with and from a creative team of facilitators and working artists, as well as other delegates from across a spectrum of experience with race, arts, health, shelter, (dis)abilities, Indigenous, QTBIPOC, seniors, youth, women, and families.
